A WORD TO THE TRADE

We do not sell cheap groceries, but we do sell groceries cheap. In other words, while our prices are away down, our goods are away up in quality. That is the reason why our trade increases every month we are in business. We couldn't hold our trade on inferior goods, and we wouldn't sell them to you. All we ask is for you to come to our store, get our prices, look at the goods, and investigate thoroughly every order, comparing prices with any you can get. We ask your trade on this basis. Come and see us, and it will not be our fault if you are not entirely satisfied.

AMATEUR DETECTIVE AID. THINKS PRESIDENT FIRM

President of Company From Whom a Number of Bonds Were Abstracted Organizes Clerks and Sends Them In Search of Missing Man.

In His Repeated Assertions That He Would Not Accept Another Nomination and if Selected by His Party Would Decline.

New York, April 22.—The speedy arrest of W. O. Douglas, assistant loan clerk for the Trust Company of America, on the charge that he had stolen bonds valued at $50,000 from the company, reveals a new method in detective work. Douglas disappeared from his office Saturday and an investigation showed that bonds valued at $50,000 were also missing. Oakleigh Thorne, president of the company, notified a private detective agency and the police, but, not satisfied with this, he organized the twenty-eight men of his office staff into an amateur detective force and had them guard every railroad exit from the city. Besides directing the sleuthing of the clerks under him, Mr. Thorne kept watch over the Grand Central station for six hours.

Early Sunday morning A. M. Strand and W. Black, two of the amateur detectives stationed at the Grand Central station, stumbled on the missing clerk's trail. They were watching near the subway station when they saw Mrs. Douglas, wife of the missing clerk, appear. She took a cab and the two clerks, following in another carriage, she led them to the Hotel Portland, where Douglas' arrest was accomplished shortly afterward.

Douglas confessed and said his downfall was due to speculation. The stolen bonds, he said, had been placed with a firm of brokers to cover deals he had made in the market.

The shortage in the accounts of W. Douglas may reach $250,000. Douglas is said to have confessed to Mr. Thorne at the time of his arrest that he made away with $50,000 in bonds and it is reported that he made a written confession to Mr. Thorne in which he admitted the total value of the bonds taken by him will reach $250,000. The bonds were said to have been turned over to a Wall street broker, who is believed to have acted for Douglas in good faith.

CASE DISMISSED.

Frederick Seymour, Alias Lord Barrington, to Hang.

Washington, April 22.—In an opinion by Chief Justice Fuller the supreme court dismissed the criminal case of Frederick Seymour, alias Lord Barrington, under sentence of death at St. Louis on a charge of murdering James P. McCann in the outskirts of that city in June, 1903. In effect it affirms the decision of the supreme court of Missouri and thus sustains the verdict of guilty rendered by the trial court.

The case has been before the public for several years and has attracted much attention, largely because of Barrington's pretense of being an English lord, under which, shortly before the tragedy with which his name is connected, he married a young lady of good family residing at Kansas City. Barrington made a vigorous fight in the St. Louis courts, contending that his conviction was due to prejudice and that the charge was not sustained by the proof. When the Missouri supreme court decided against him he brought the case to the Federal supreme court on a writ of error, contending that his trial had not been fair.

A. AND M. APPROPRIATIONS.

In addition to a total appropriation of $346,470 for two years for the A. and M. College, carried by the appropriation bill, which is now up to the governor, an amendment was made to the feed control law providing that funds received by this department in excess of running expenses will be applied to the erection of a new building for the feed control department. The Eagle has previously published a list of buildings and improvements provided for in the appropriation bill as it went to the governor. The above total appropriation, which is for improvements and the support of the institution for two years, is said to be the largest educational budget in the history of the state for one institution. The present legislature has acted with great wisdom in providing for the pressing needs of the A. and M. College, many of which should have been provided long ago. Representative Davis is to be congratulated for the part he has had in this work; likewise all the friends of the College, and they are many, since the merits of the institution are becoming better known, and its students and graduates have gone out into this and other states and to foreign countries and shown themselves equipped for the duties of citizenship and usefulness.

FINE ART WORK AT CARTER'S STUDIO

Miss Cook, who recently accepted a position at Carter's Studio, is a most accomplished artist, as is fully evidenced by the specimens of her work now on exhibition at the Studio. She has taken several art first premiums at the San Antonio fair, and her work is of a character that must be seen to be appreciated, and it is worth a visit to the Studio to see any day. Her work includes retouching and the employment of water colors in high art photography both of persons and views, of which a number of specimens were seen by an Eagle representative yesterday. These pictures differ from the usual photographic effects and are exceedingly attractive.

REVIVAL LAST NIGHT.

The auditorium of the Methodist church was filled with an attentive audience last night to hear Evangelist Law, who read a scripture lesson from the fourteenth chapter of Judges, selecting as his text the last clause of the fifth verse: "And behold, a young lion roared against him." The sermon was a strong appeal to christian people to overcome the lions of indifference, man-fear and selfishness and unite in the meeting with the salvation of souls as the supreme object. The audience was deeply impressed. Prof. Wheeler sang a baritone solo, "Is the Saviour Yours?" with fine effect.

WITNESSED OPERATION.

Joked During the Sawing Off of His Leg.

New York, April 22.—While two surgeons were cutting off his leg in Flower hospital Edward McCabe, in full possession of his faculties, watched the operation and occasionally cracked a joke with the men who were wielding the knives. He felt no pain. This is because the physicians pursued a most unusual method of operation.

McCabe was struck by a Third avenue car and suffered a compound fracture of the left leg. At the hospital it was found an amputation would be necessary. It developed that McCabe's heart action was too weak to permit the administration of an anaesthetic and it was decided to apply a hypodermic injection of cocaine to the spinal column. This produces what is known as spinal anesthesia of the lower extremities, depriving the patient of all sensation there. McCabe has a fair chance of recovery.

HAIL IS TRULY TERRIFIC.

Part of Schleicher County Got Furious Pelting.

San Angelo, Tex., April 22.—The northeast portion of Schleicher county was visited by a terrific hailstorm. The house of Will Adams was lifted from its foundation and Harry McLondon, a youth, had a leg broken. He was blown into a bush and pelted with hailstones. Some cattle were killed.

On the Loftin Henderson ranch the hail drifted in piles as high as two and a half and three feet and many stock were injured and others killed.

Mr. Henderson estimates the loss on the Metropole ranch at $2,000. His barn was shattered and a fine Hereford bull badly hurt.

J. F. Reynolds, who ranches about two miles southwest of the Adams place, was in the very center of the hail, and reports it one of the worst he ever witnessed. It lasted thirty minutes. He was caught in the hail and forced to desert his wagon and team for shelter under a tree. When the storm was over he found two nearby trees uprooted, which he could not see at the time, as the hail was so thick. The hail killed chickens and small animals, and Mr. Reynolds thinks must have killed a number of cattle on the ranches it visited.

DROUTH ENDS.

Rain Fall's In Texas, Also Snow and Likewise Hail.

Dallas, April 22.—The drouth has at last ended. Rain has been general as far west as Baird and as far east as Texarkana. In Texas generally there has been rain, from the north to the south, and, though in the extreme northern part of the state it has been combined with weather cold enough to arouse some fears for vegetation in certain localities, generally speaking, the moisture has fallen upon lands of thankful farmers and fruit and truck growers.

In New Mexico from three to eight inches of snow is reported, extending as far west as Torrance.

Points in the Panhandle report snow, varying from an inch or two to ten inches at Channing.

SNOWED SUNDAY.

Great Injury Has Been Done In El Paso Section.

This is the latest snowfall ever known here, and the temperature, which was thirty-six degrees, did damage to small fruit and truck gardens in the valley variously estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000. The Golden State Limited, on the Rock Island railroad was six and one-half hours late on account of a snowdrift near Santa Rosa, N. M.

Under the new law the accused are allowed bail until after indictment by the grand jury. The result is they will remain in prison for some time.

Having captured one of three Socialists who murdered a fifteen-year-old girl the Nationalists took the prisoner to the outskirts of the city, tried him, sentenced him to death by hanging and carried out the sentence. Last week's victim of the Nationalist and Socialist fights total twenty-three killed and fifty-seven wounded, the majority of the casualties being among Socialists.

DEADLOCK ON.

Nicaragua Insists That Salvador Shall Be Held Responsible.

Washington, April 22.—Advices received here from Central America are to the effect that peace negotiations, which have been in progress for the past few days at Anapala, have come to a deadlock, and it is feared that a renewal of hostilities is impending. The difficulty appears to lie in the Nicaraguan demand that Salvador shall be held responsible for what has occurred, which condition is not acceptable.

Effectually Nipped.

Denver, April 22.—A sharp drop in temperature followed the snowstorm, 14 above zero being recorded by the weather bureau in Denver and Pueblo, and fruit of all kinds in eastern Colorado was effectually nipped in the bud. While damage to fruit in this state may amount to several millions of dollars, nearly all other crops will be greatly benefited by the moisture.

YOUNG BRIDE RISKS LIFE FOR HUSBAND.

PETRA LIEN RIDES THREE MILES IN NIGHT ROBE TO SUMMON AID.

HER COLD HAS NO TERROR

an First Carries Injured Man m Burning Home—is Now Near Death Because of Her Awful Experience.

roid, S. D.—South Dakota's new bride is Mrs. Petra Lien, the bravest in the west, who is hovering between life and death at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Elsemann of this city, and the title of heroine will be with her whether she lives or dies.

Mr. Peterson, aged 23, married Mrs. H. Lien three months ago, and on the night of the tragedy occurred. They were on a farm ten miles south of this city and their home was a favorite place for the young people of the community. When the young couple retired a few nights ago, the sitting room above was warm. About midnight the husband went to look after it. Fearing it would go out he threw in some kerosene, possibly, as some of the neighbors think, gasoline. An explosion followed, enveloping the man in flames. He was terribly burned, his face being consumed instantly. Neighbors brought his young wife to the scene.

She had a skirt which she had grabbed from the closet, and she fought the flames and tried to drag her husband from the midst. The whole room was in flames, and she realized the uselessness of trying to extinguish the fast fire. She was much smaller than her husband, she practically carried him herself barefoot, through the flames. She laid his quivering body in a pile of hay and returned to the house for clothing. The whole house was in flames. She could not enter to get wearing apparel. She telephoned to neighbors. She begged, herself, go for aid.

Going to the barn the brave bride took the scorched skirt which she had fought the flames, and, wrapping it about her now semi-nude husband, prepared for the ordeal of riding through snow and cold wind, almost nude. As she hastily put on their feetest, the wife realized the warm body of the animal relied upon to supply needed heat. And so she began the ride which will be related for years to come to the children of this community and state.

Through the dark, moonless night she urged her horse, her stiffening fingers and limbs from the biting cold being forgotten in the mental anxiety for her suffering husband. The thin night gown offered but meager protection from the near-zero weather and the snow flung from the hoofs of the running horse struck her continually.

But she conquered, where failure would have been more logical. Three miles were traversed and a wall from the freezing wife brought quick response from neighbors. When helped from her horse she seemed on the verge of collapse, but rallied quickly and insisted upon going back to her husband at once.

She Rode at Furious Pace for a Doctor.

husband at once. She would wait for nothing but to be hurriedly dressed in clothing of her neighbor, and then astride her panting horse she again covered the three miles at top speed. Friends came and medical aid. All effort to save the life of Mr. Lien was futile, however, and he died at daybreak, in the barn where his young wife had placed him. Knowledge of his death was the signal for Mrs. Lien to collapse and she was taken to the home of a friend.

Burned and frozen and suffering from nervous shock the bereaved bride is still in a precarious state at her sister's home here. Her hands and face were scorched terribly by the fire. Their home and all its contents were destroyed. The funeral of Mr. Lien was one of the largest ever held in this (Hughes) county.

AN FLEES FROM GRAVEYARD GHOSTS

IN A CEMETERY AT MIDNIGHT HE SEES WEIRD SPECTERS AND RUNS AWAY.

He saw the lights of the engine disappear in the distance and started to find his way out of the cemetery. "I kept on running," he said to a reporter, "in telling of his experience, wishing every minute I could get out. 'All around me were white tombstones. I heard a noise in another direction and then I saw a white thing. It seemed to rise out of the ground. My hair went up, too, I think. 'Then I did run. I'll admit I was dead afraid. I just wanted to get out of that place of horrors. I think I prayed. I was damp all over with a cold, clammy sort of sweat.'"

Carpenter wiped his forehead with his handkerchief in memory of the event before he went on.

"I thought all the time that I was heading for Calvary avenue. After a time I saw the light of a street car in the distance and it sort of kept me company. I followed the light, and the next thing I knew I had stumbled and fallen, and there looking at me was another white thing. It wasn't as bad as the first, though. I was getting used to the spooks a little. 'I got up again and ran until I came to a barb wire fence. I got over the fence without a scratch, and found I was in Walnut Park, north of the cemetery. All the time I had thought I was going south. 'A policeman told me where I was, and how to get back to the engine-house. He said we had made a run on a false alarm. I had been in the cemetery an hour.'"

Hens Laid for 35 Years. Pennsylvania, Pa.—Twelve dollars was the price realized for a pair of hens at the public sale of William Stengel's property at Baily. Mr. Stengel said that he had owned the fowls for 35 years, and that during all that time they had attended strictly to business.

Mr. Stengel's farm is located near a camp-meeting ground of colored folks, and he did not lose sight of the fact, for whenever gatherings were on he would double-lock and bar his chicken-coop.

The visit of the local preacher to the Stengel farm always resulted in a hurry call for secretion of the favorite hens. Young chickens were hastily slaughtered and conspicuously displayed.

Such Innocence!

Mrs. Stubb—Land's sakes, John, there must be a great many barber shops in Wall street!

Mr. Stubb—What causes you to think so, Maria?

Mrs. Stubb—Why, the papers say hundreds of men are trimmed there every day.—Chicago Daily News.

CARE OF WICKER FURNITURE.

Varnish Must Be Removed Before It Is Enamelled.

If wicker furniture has been varnished it will not take enamel without removing the varnish. Pour boiling water, with a little washing soda in it, over and through the wicker work for at least ten minutes; let it dry, go over it with a flannel wet in either turpentine or naphtha. Leave in the air and next day rub down with sandpaper. Wicker, rush and bamboo things are better dyed than painted.

Unpainted wood or raw wicker can be dyed almost any color with good domestic dyes. Red is particularly effective. Wet the surface to be dyed with clear hot water before dyeing. The wetting makes it take color evenly. For white enamel a clean dry surface is requisite.

The finish coat should be thicker than rich cream and put on very smooth. Give two coats of the white varnish, rub down with sandpaper and finish with oil applied with a silk swab and rubbed to a high polish.

Sun-faded spots in stained wood, as a floor or window casing, can be restored thus: Cover the spot with a folded cloth wet in benzine or turpentine, let it lie an hour, then rub over with alcohol and wash with strong soda water about blood warm.

This takes off the old varnish. Stain afresh, taking care that the new color goes out quite to the old; let dry, re-varnish and polish.

BEST USE OF SPAGHETTI.

Proper Way of Preparing the Delightful Timbales.

Spaghetti Timbales — Boil three ounces of spaghetti in salted water. Do not break it to make it go into the pan, but when the water boils fast take part of the spaghetti in the hand and hold the ends in the water, allowing it, as it softens, to gently slide into the water. It will soften almost at once, and may in this way be quite easily managed.

Boil for about 25 minutes, or until it is just soft, but be sure it does not lose shape. Then drain it, rinse in cold water and spread it out at full length to cool. Butter liberally some small molds and line them with the spaghetti, beginning at the middle of the bottom of the molds and coiling it up the sides.

Fill the centers with a mixture of pounded raw chicken or veal mixed with a nicely seasoned sauce, and add one whole egg for every two of the molds. Cover with greased paper and surround with boiling water to one-third their depth. Steam for half an hour, but do not allow the water to boil fiercely. Turn out gently and serve hot. The filling may be varied according to circumstances, and cooked poultry may be used if more convenient.

A White Bedroom.

Few women realize the possibilities from an artistic point of view of the common, cheap, unbleached muslin, though most of us realize its durability.

A young girl has just finished doing over a room that had to be done with in a given sum, and that a small one.

The chairs are of willow, which she painted an ivory white to match the woodwork.

Her walls she covered with a paper in the same tone, relieved by trailing pale pink roses, marking it off in panels.

But the crowning glory was the curtains of unbleached muslin that hung in straight folds at the sides with a deep valance across the top.

The unusual feature of the curtains consisted of the vine matching the wallpaper and cut from cretonne that bordered all the edges. This applied border was basted carefully into place and then stitched on the machine.

To Remove Paint from Muslin.

Soak the spots in a strong solution of soda and water for 24 hours. At the end of this time the paint will often have disappeared, but if it has not, wet the material in turpentine and lay in the sun for several hours. Wet again and repeat this until every trace of the paint is removed. Green paint seems especially hard to remove, but "if at first you don't succeed, try, try, again," as I did when my daughter, in a fresh white dress, ran against a newly painted screen door, and had entire success. This sounds as if I meant she had success in covering herself with paint, which she did, but the crowning success was mine in removing the paint by using the above process.—The Housekeeper.

Jellied Prunes.

One-third pound prunes, two cups cold water, one-half cup cold water, one-half box gelatin, or 2½ table spoons granulated gelatin, one cup sugar, one-fourth cup lemon juice. Pick over, wash and soak prunes for several hours in two cups cold water and cook in same water until soft; remove prunes; stone and cut into quarters. Add enough boiling water to the prune water to make two cups. Soak gelatin in one-half cup cold water, dissolve in hot liquid, add sugar and lemon juice, then strain, add prunes and chill. Stir twice while cooking to prevent prunes settling. Serve with sugar and cream.

Table Flowers.

For a simple luncheon there is nothing prettier than scarlet blossoms, arranged in a glass bowl, with sprays of fern to form a contrast to the brilliant red.

Heat Irons.

Should be heated gradually the first time. After they are inured to heat they will not become rough so easily.

POULTRY RAISING IN TOWN IT PAYS

BY DR. F. W. YOUNG PRES. MICHIGAN STATE POULTRY ASSOCIATION

The poultry business will never be overdone. Chickens and eggs are staples, they are indispensable on our tables. Nothing can take their place. The demand for fancy stock was never before so great as at the present time. You will hear say there was Mr. Smith or Mr. Brown or Mr. Clark, or some other fellow who went into the poultry business and lost all. That is very true, and I do not wonder that there are not more failures, the way some start in. I happen to know a few people myself who started into the poultry business and made flat failures of it. I also happen to know why they did so. I will tell you how a Mr. Brown, who had $5,000 to throw away, went into business.

In the first place, Mr. Brown knew nothing about poultry, could not tell a rooster from a hen, they all looked alike to him. Every person he would meet he had to tell all about what he was going to do, going into the chicken business, greatest thing on earth; had figured out where he could make enough money to retire on in five years. The way he went about it, let contract for buildings costing him $6,500, consisting of laying houses, incubator house and brooder house. From his way of thinking they were perfect, but they were far from being so. His buildings were completed about the middle of June. He was now $1,500 in debt, and not a chicken in his place. His next step was incubators and indoor brooders, then came the buying of eggs for hatching and feed for young chicks and a little later colony houses, putting Mr. Brown $400 more in debt. His young stock now were requiring lots of feed to keep them growing, going in debt still more. Things commence to look rather dark and gloomy for Mr. Brown. It has been all pay ever since he started, and nothing coming in. Fall comes and he finds himself several hundred dollars in debt. Feeling discouraged with his year's work he quits the business in disgust. Now, it would have been better for all concerned had he never made the venture, his condemnation of the business and everybody and everything connected with it will do untold harm in keeping others from taking it up who might have made a grand success of it. Many a man has built up a great poultry business for less than $500, where Mr. Brown made a total failure on $5,000. Motto, do not put so much money into buildings. You must have a little capital to work on, the profit is in the poultry, not in the buildings. To be sure, you want warm, dry, well ventilated quarters, but you must first get your stock, which should be the very best. If you cannot afford to buy a pen, which consists of four females and one male, buy a few settings of eggs. Look well after your young stock and in the fall you will have a start which any fancier would be proud of. Do not expect to make any money from your poultry the first year. The second year you might be able to sell a few settings, but the third year you should have both stock and eggs for sale. Why so many fail in the poultry business is because they jump into it without looking into it. They expect to get rich and retire after the first year.

Now drive the get-rich-quick idea out of your head; it's a swindle, has ruined many a man. Take our merchants, manufacturers, professional men and men with trades—it has taken time, hard work and steady before they commenced to reap a benefit, and many a one dropped out in the struggle. You can start in thoroughbred poultry with less money and can have a business paying 100 per cent. in less time than anything else you might venture into. I know dozens of men who have started into the poultry business and who to-day are making big money out of it, but they started right, started at the bottom and worked up.

Breeding of fancy fowls in our towns and cities is becoming very popular by business and professional men. They realize the fact that all the prize winners are not raised on farms, the town and city lot fanciers have an equal chance with their country cousins, excepting for lack of room, he cannot raise as many—it is more quality than quantity with him, he enjoys the growing of prize winners and the recreation which helps body and mind.

I began the rearing of thoroughbred poultry solely for pleasure and I believe there is nothing a person can get more enthusiasm out of than a flock of thoroughbred chickens. I often wonder why more men who are so confined to offices in our large cities do not start a little poultry plant in their back yard, they would find there is always something to learn to do, to plan and to hope for and by looking well after their stock, they would combine profit and pleasure. A man who thinks it beneath his dignity to keep a few birds better get his hat on straight. If he would write to some of our fanciers, asking them for prices for say, 25 of his best birds, and the answer would come back $25,000, he would drop his dignity. Birds have even sold for nearly $2,000 apiece, $500 birds are being sold every day.

To the farmers I would say this is an age of improvement and when you see a chance to improve you should grasp it. Do a little more hard thinking and you will do less hard work, the man who works his brains is the man who is making the money. The man who is earning $2 a day is the man who is working with his hands alone, while the man who is earning $10 a day is using his brains as well as his brawn. If you put brains into the poultry business as well as muscular action, you will reap a great harvest every day.

I am glad the farmers are finding out as never before the possibilities in keeping thoroughbred poultry. They are learning by practical experience that pure bred poultry gives the most satisfactory results, and that no line of farming pays better than poultry and egg production. The young man on the farm to-day has no greater or grander business proposition than the poultry industry offers. He is privileged to use his brains as much as our merchant, professional man, or any other person, and by using them he can climb the rocky road faster to prosperity. Subscribe for one or more poultry journals, they will teach you things you never knew before, they explain everything that you do not understand, you cannot get along without them. I have taken five poultry journals for the past four years, have always found them interesting and full of good facts. I hope the day is not far off that when you ask a farmer what kind of stock he keeps he can say thoroughbreds, and not mongrels. Mongrels are mongrels, and you cannot make anything else out of them. Get rid of them, do not have them around, they eat more, lay less and are unsightly.

What looks prettier on a farm than a fine flock of thoroughbred chickens? In showing a friend or a stranger about your farm, you will take great pleasure in showing him your flock of thoroughbreds, you will interest him; he will go away thinking about them and will tell his friends all about them. What a pleasure pure bred stock brings! In starting I think it best to select one breed; make a study of them and look after their wants. The profit and prosperity of the business now depends upon your own efforts. It is only a few years ago when you sold your eggs for nine cents per dozen and had to take all out in trade. Today you receive from 30 to 40 cents per dozen in cash and from 10 to 15 cents per pound for live fowls. Now where is there anything paying like poultry on your farm? I believe farmers on 50, 75 and 100-acre farms can make dollars out of poultry where they make cents out of grain. Do not look upon the poultry business as a foolish hobby. It is worthy of your best efforts; it has grown from insignificant proportions into one of the greatest industries of our country. It is unrivaled by the coal mine, the gold mine, the wheat, corn, oats, wool or any other agricultural product in the world, its value annually running into the millions. Thanks to incubators and brooders, they have been introduced into the poultry world the last few years, and without them it would be utterly impossible to get the results shown above. I am glad to see farmers by the hundreds to-day buying incubators and brooders. There is no reason why anyone cannot run them successfully; they have helped thousands to make money out of poultry; they will help you.

This is undoubtedly an age of advertising. Our business men of to-day are all extensive advertisers; they are noted far and wide; it is beneficial to them and a decided benefit to the public as well as there are always people looking for just what you might have for sale. It is strictly a mail order business. Advertise just what you have and sell just what you advertise. Don't tell lies about your stock. The American people will not be humbugged. An advertisement in a good poultry journal will sell your stock. It also pays to carry an ad in your local paper; it costs but little and lets the people know for miles around about you and your stock, besides local papers are sent all over the United States, giving you good results for very little money spent. The beginner might be somewhat timid about spending a little money in advertising, but I want to say through constant and liberal advertising a great poultry business can be built up.

Another very important help to the poultry industry are the poultry shows; they are as much needed to poultry culture as our schools are to our country, they help the beginner and the old fancier—are educational from start to finish.

A Time Saver.—The woodpile made right now.

APPETIZING HERBS

RECIPES BOTH PALATABLE AND HEALTHFUL.

Dandelions Boiled with Bacon Make an Ideal Simple Dish—Dandelion Wine a Tonic That is of Value.

Dandelions Boiled with Bacon.—Clean thoroughly a half peck dandelions and put over the fire with boiling water to cover. Cook ten minutes, drain, return to the pan and cover barely with fresh boiling water. Add one pound bacon, two onions chopped, a teaspoonful salt and a bit of red pepper. Cover and boil until tender and nearly dry. Take up the dandelions and mound on a hot dish, surrounded with a circle of the bacon sliced thin and serve with boiled potatoes. Dandelions are also tasty cooked with corn beef or tongue.

Dandelion Wine.—This wine is in great repute as a tonic. It is made from the blossoms alone, rejecting the stems, which would make the wine bitter. Put four quarts of the yellow petals in a kettle with a gallon of boiling water, cover and let them stand three days, stirring twice a day. Strain off the clear liquid, place in the kettle, with the thin yellow peel of one lemon and one orange, and the juice of both with three and a half pounds of sugar, and a half ounce ginger root. Place over the fire and boil slowly half an hour. Take off, and when cooled to lukewarm, spread a half cake of compressed yeast on a half slice toasted bread and add to the mixture. Let this stand in a warm place for two or three days, then put into a demijohn or cask (the wine must fill whatever vessel it is put in), and stand away in a warm place six weeks or more. Fill up occasionally with sweetened water, to make up for that lost in fermentation. When fermentation has stopped, close tightly, leave for three weeks, then bottle.

Watercress for Wit.—"Eat cress and learn wit," say the Greeks; while Pliny asserted that cress vinegar restores sanity. According to analysis, watercress contains iodine, iron, phosphate and a sulpho-nitrogenous oil—a fine combination of wholesome properties. To be perfect, cress should be freshly gathered, well washed in cold water, shaken thoroughly dry, seasoned with salt and eaten with thin slices of bread and butter. Some prefer a dash of lemon juice with cress and a tablespoonful olive oil, but the epicure takes his with salt alone.

How to Hang Pictures.

Oil paintings and water colors should never be allowed to become intimate companions, but the latter may hobnob with etchings, pastels, drawings, photographs, and even engravings, without losing their dignity. An oil painting of exceptional excellence should be given a special position.

Water colors and pastels in delicate tints and black and whites and soft etchings should be properly placed in wall spaces where the light is strongest. The darker and more heavily shaded pictures should hang farther away from the light. From the family colored pictures in the clearest light, the glance should be involuntarily but skillfully led to the deeper-toned pictures farther back in the room.

Sometimes, however, a dark corner that needs brightening may demand a lighter picture or a spot of brilliant coloring may be risked. A pen-and-ink sketch with white mat fills in well in such a case. Harmony must be studied, and the position of a picture well considered before its place is decided. One with broad, white mat should never be hung next to a carbon in a heavy black frame. The eye must be led, not jerked, from one picture to another.

To Starch Lace.

There is a great difference of opinion about the starching of lace, some people objecting to any starch being put in it on the grounds that it makes the lace too stiff and tends to destroy it.

Take some clear starch and thin it down until it feels like slightly thickened water, or for heavy, thick laces, a little thicker; soak the lace well in this, then squeeze out gently with the hands; spread it out between the folds of a towel or handkerchief, beat between the hands or pass it through a wringing machine.

Avoid twisting it. After wringing pull the lace out gently with the fingers and roll it up with the wrong side inside, commencing at the left-hand end and with the points or edges away from you. This will be found the most convenient way to have it when ironing.

Odds and Ends of Hair.

When little scraggly ends of hair hang down over your collar all you need is a good brush, some back combs and a little perseverance to make them stay up with the rest. When arranging your coiffure brush these ends briskly and then place two back combs where they are needed. A few invisible hairpins will also conspire against widow locks. A little downy growth of hair on the cheeks should not be tampered with. When genuine bristles develop the electric needle should be used to annihilate them.

Re-Enameling a Bath.

For this you need a proper bath enamel. Sandpaper the bath before applying, and slightly heat the enamel. Heating makes it a little thinner, and it is easier to apply evenly. It will need two coats, or, if bad, three.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME BUT ALTUS.

To the Bryan Eagle.

I promised to write and tell my friends what I thought of my new home, so I will keep my promise, thinking you will give me admission to your letter column. I will begin by saying, "There is no place like home"—but Altus, Okla.

We are well pleased here so far. The people here are very friendly and gave us a welcome into their town, which makes us feel like we are among good people. This is a pretty little town, about 3,000 inhabitants, and has one of the prettiest locations I ever saw. Everything is strictly up-to-date. The town has one Railroad and another in sight. One oil mill; flour mill; Compress; and light plant, which is a credit to a town of this size. The town is lighted with Arc lights; and besides all this, there are three banks, which speaks for the financial condition of the country. In fact, it is the most promising town I ever saw.

The soil is rich and productive. Cotton, wheat, oats and corn are grown extensively. Though the Green bug has damaged the grain crop, this season will not show up in that crop as heretofore.

Farm lands are high here, has advanced from $5 to $30 per acre in four years. The farmers are beginning to plant cotton here, though it seems like winter today.

There is no timbered country around here. Everybody burns coal, which is more expensive than burning wood in Brazos, but wood is higher here than coal, as it has to be shipped in here.

There is lots of game, such as quail, prairie dogs, and jack rabbits. And the streams are alive with fish; the people don't fish here with hook and line, they take their gigs and catch all they want.

Well, as I'm drifting into fish stories I will quit for this time, but will write again.

The snowstorm in Colorado extended east from Pueblo to Dodge City, Kan., and south into Kansas. The snow drifted badly in the vicinity of Pueblo, delaying railroad and street car traffic. Ten inches of snow fell at Colorado Springs.

APOLOGY DEMANDED.

If Smith Fails to Do So His Arrest Will Be Called For.

Montgomery, April 20.—President Chambers of the Montgomery Baseball club has demanded an apology of Manager Smith of the Atlanta club for language used in the presence of ladies at the park. The apology must be made to the grand stand. Smith is charged with swearing at Umpire Rinn. Smith says he will die before he will apologize, asserting that he did not use profane language. In case of refusal Chambers will order the arrest of the Atlanta manager.

METHODIST CHURCH OPENED.

OTHER CHURCHES JOINED IN SERVICE, PASTORS PARTICIPATING.

SERMON BY BISHOP SETH WARD

Was a Great Occasion in the Religious History of Bryan—Revival Services Begun by Rev. Lovic Pierce Law—Prof. Wheeler Musical Director.

Thirteen months ago the beautiful First Methodist Church of this city was destroyed by fire during the progress of a revival. Sunday a magnificent new church, erected on the same site, was opened. A Sunday school rally was held at 9:30 o'clock, followed by a sermon at 11 o'clock by Bishop Seth Ward of Houston, and at night another revival was begun by Rev. Lovic Pierce Law of Siloam Springs, Ark.

Following immediately upon the burning of the church, the pastor, Dr. I. F. Betts, and the congregation set to work to rebuild on a larger and more magnificent scale, and the church and the community responded liberally to the worthy enterprise, with the result that it stands today as a monument of faithfulness, zeal and sacrifice.

Notwithstanding the cold and disagreeable weather, almost without precedent at this season of the year, nearly four hundred, including visitors, were present at the Sunday school rally, and a great audience gathered at the 11 o'clock opening service. No services were held at 11 o'clock at the other churches, the congregations being present to join in this service, in which the several pastors took part.

Bishop Seth Ward of Houston preached a sublime sermon on "The Value of Christian Faith," his text being selected from I. Peter, i, 7: "That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold, that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ."

In the beginning of his discourse Bishop Ward congratulated the congregation and the community upon the building of the splendid new church, and related that nearly twenty-five years ago he attended his first conference in an old church which then stood on the same site, as a young Methodist preacher.

The sermon dealt comprehensively with the phase of the text indicated by the subject given above. He stated that the text embraced the value, trial and triumph of faith, but that he would discuss only the first of these three sub-divisions. After discussing the nature of faith, and that which it is essential for those accepting the system of Christianity to believe, he enlarged upon faith as a basis of character and a source of power, and declared that character is the product of great principles and great motives, and that great manhood or womanhood can not be built up on a foundation any less broad than the system of Christianity. He asserted, that it was not the mission of the church to go into politics or formulate theories of government, but rather to furnish men of Christian character, to work out these problems of government, of labor and of capital; that the mission of the church is to deal with men and with sin.

The course of the discourse brought the statement from the bishop that while he knew not when the end of the world will come, his belief is that not half the work of God's kingdom in the world has been accomplished yet. The speaker was insistent in his declaration of the positiveness of the evidences upon which Christian faith is predicated, declaring them to be as clear to his mind, though differing in kind, as the evidences of the truths of history and of physical science.

Five persons were received into the church at the opening services, two on profession and three by letter. Infant baptism was also administered on seven candidates presented at these services. Those received into the church by letter were Mrs. Sumner, Miss Sumner and Miss Brogdon; those by baptism were Master Fernando Karbe and Miss Mary James. Those consecrated to the Lord by baptism were Lillian Bertha Jenkins, Philip Hensarling Jr., William Douglas Winter, Clara Ida Astin, Janie Celia Astin, Tom Jenkins, George Samuel Crenshaw.

Dr. Betts, the pastor invited all the denominations of the city to take part in the revival meeting begun Sunday night by Rev. Lovic P. Law, and expressed the hope that the entire community shall be blessed, and new members received by all the churches as a result of the meeting.

The bad weather continued at the night service, but nevertheless a number gathered at the church and a most profitable service was held. Prof. Wheeler of Kansas City, conducted the music and demonstrated that he is not only a fine singer, but that he understands music and knows how to direct a large choir and congregational singing. Good music is going to be an important feature of the meeting.

appeal of an earnest, zealous and able preacher, who in the full vigor of manhood is directing all his powers to the great work of leading men to salvation.

No service was held yesterday morning on account of the weather, but regular services were resumed last night and will hereafter be held at 10:30 a. m. and 8 p. m.

THE CHURCH BUILDING.

The Eagle recently published a description of the new church which will bear repetition:

The general dimensions of the building are 100x69 feet with the main tower 85 feet high. The interior is divided into an auditorium and Sunday school room, the latter having a gallery extending in a semicircle around two sides. This gallery and the space beneath it are partitioned off to form Sunday school rooms, each of which is available for use when there are large congregations present. Those rooms with others make fifteen rooms for class work; also a pastor's study and secretary's office. There are three vestibuled entrances and two rear entrances not vestibuled. Front and rear stairs lead to the gallery and upper rooms. Including those in the ceiling and tower there are sixty-seven art glass windows of varying sizes. Handsome memorial windows bear the names of M. D. Cole, D. C. Zuber, Mrs. Margaret Hall, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. South, J. C. Gillespie and James Walker. Another window bears the name of Mrs. D. A. Lawrence, a venerable and well beloved member of this church, and still another has been contributed by the Allen Academy students.

An elaborate electric lighting system has been installed, which has approximately 150 lights; also a Soliel safety steam heating apparatus with twenty-three radiators of varying sizes scattered in all parts of the building.

The church is a buff brick veneer building with metal roof, steel ceiling, high stained wainscoting and tinted plastered walls. The church is similar in design to the one destroyed by fire, but larger, much improved, more conveniently arranged and having a largely increased seating capacity. The latter is estimated at 1,200. A solid partition that may be raised or lowered at will divides the auditorium from the Sunday school room, and when up the pulpit is visible from any point in the house.

An order has been placed for a $3,500 Hook-Hastings organ with thirty-three stops and more than a thousand pipes, tubular pneumatic throughout, which will be placed in the organ niche to the right and in the rear of the pulpit upon its arrival. A fine piano has also been purchased for the Sunday school room, which is also supplied with a reed organ.

The cost of the new church and furnishings will be in excess of $25,000. J. E. Flanders of Dallas is the architect; C. E. Jenkins of Bryan, contractor; E. J. Jenkins, Dr. I. F. Betts, J. H. Allen, R. O. Allen, R. S. Webb, James H. Webb, Ed Hall, C. G. Walker, Dr. W. H. Lawrence, A. M. Waldrop and Malcolm Carnes, members of the building committee.

GIMBEL PASSES AWAY.

Rich Merchant Expires From Self-Inflicted Wounds.

New York, April 22.—Benedict Gim-bel, the wealthy Philadelphia merchant who cut his throat and wrists with broken glass in a hotel at Hoboken soon after he had been arrested on serious charges in this city, died in St. Mary's hospital, Hoboken, shortly before 3 o'clock Monday morning.

Thursday afternoon he was taken from a cab in this city while in company with Ivor Clark, a sixteen-year-old boy, by two detectives, who acted on the complaint of Clark's parents.
Gimbel, according to the detectives, resorted to an attempt at bribery and offered the detectives $2,000 if they would release him. The detectives apparently consented, and, demanding the cash, were driven with Gimbel to his banker's office here and given $2,000. They then informed Gimbel that the additional charge of attempted bribery would be placed against him and took him to the district attorney's office, where, it is alleged, Gimbel, who keenly felt his predicament, offered Assistant Attorney Krotel any amount of money to gain his release.

Later Gimbel was released on heavy bail and started ostensibly for his home in Philadelphia. He never got there. Instead he went to the Palace hotel in Hoboken, and there, with jagged glass obtained from a water pitcher which he broke, he cut his throat in many places and gashed his left wrist. He was discovered several hours afterward almost dead from the loss of blood.

At St. Mary's hospital, to which he was removed Friday night, it was thought for a time that his life might be saved, but Sunday he began suddenly to fail and late that night hope was abandoned.

Gimbel's wife and two of his six brothers, he being the youngest, who have shown confidence and devotion to the husband and brother, went to his bedside late Friday night and remained with him till the end. In a statement the family notified the public that Benedict Gimbel had been ill for some weeks as the result of overwork and that this had undoubtedly dethroned his reason. His brothers say the business will not be affected.

CHARTERS AND PERMITS.

Bill Increasing the Filing Fees of Same Passed In House.

Austin, April 22.—Bill increasing the filing fees of charters and permits was passed finally in the house.

delinquent tax lists was engrossed in the house.

The enacting clause of the bill providing for a verdict by nine jurors in civil cases was struck out in the senate after two hours' discussion.

Governor decided to veto the textbook bill. He objected to the supplemental book feature to the provision for the purchase of books from a trust when not otherwise obtainable and to having a trust representative on the board.

MOBILE DRENCHED.

Heaviest Downpours in History.

Mobile, April 22.—From midnight
Sunday night until 3:30 o'clock Mon-in her history. So great was the downpour that the streets in many sections of the city were covered from one to two feet with water and the school board closed the schools. The new union station was completely cut off and damage to houses and buildings was heavy. In some sections the city was cut off for a radius of ten blocks.

who is credited with being the first man to catch off the bat, was found

IN ROOM OF LOVER.

French Girl Suicides In Apartments of Sweetheart.

New York, April 22.—Because she was losing the man that meant more than life to her, Isabella Bouttelot, a pretty French girl, killed herself, having sought her lover's room as the place to die.

Louis Belleville, a member of the orchestra at Hammerstein's Opera House, was the lover, and when he returned to his boarding house early Sunday morning he found the body of his sweetheart and a letter which she had written, telling him that life was no longer worth living.

Early the previous evening the girl passed through the restaurant on the ground floor of the boarding house and, climbing on a fence in the back yard, reached a fire escape which led her to her lover's room. Once in the room she tore part of her clothing to shreds and stopped all the crevices in the windows and door and turned on two gas jets. Then she sat down in a rocking chair to await death.

RIOT IN CHURCH.

Factions Fought, Some Women Fainted and Others Fled.

Portsmouth, O., April 22.—A faction opposing their pastor, Rev. Freeman Chase, made an attempt to depose him and hold services with another minister and caused a riot in the Free Will Baptist church here Sunday. The followers of the different factions came to blows, women fainted and others fled screaming into the streets.
When the police authorities were appealed to they refused to interfere.
Order was finally restored by the new minister and elders withdrawing. A majority of the church officers are opposed to Chase, who has withdrawn from the conference, and has been conducting the church independently.

Will Ask Withdrawal.

New York, April 22.—The Central Federated union appointed a committee to visit Washington and, if possible, secure an interview with President Roosevelt. The committee was instructed to request the president to make a public withdrawal of his reported reference to Moyer and Haywood in connection with the recent Harriman letter incident.

One Participant Killed.

was killed, and a merchant named Early received a flesh wound in his leg.
It is alleged the trouble was over Early's wife.
